Normal Announcements.

Dr. McIver made the following announcement at the Normal yesterday morning: For Tuesday, Class Day Exercises at five o'clock in the afternoon. Reading of representative essays at eight thirty o'clock in the evening. He requested the people who wanted to hear the essays to come on time, as the doors will be closed a short time after eight-thirty. Announcements for Wednesday will be made through The Telegram tomorrow.

Accident on the Southern.

The southbound local freight which passes Grensboro about noon carries passengers. This afternoon as it was standing on a siding near the furniture factory, waiting for the northbound passenger train to pass, a shifting engine pushed several flat cars into the shanty of the freight. Three passengers were in the shanty at the time, but neither of them were hurt. Very little damage was done the car.

The past isn't half as dead as some people would like it to be.

STATE NORMAL COMMENCEMENT

BEGINS WITH ALUMNAE BANQUET

ANNUAL SERMON PREACHED BY REV. H. E. RONDTHALER.

The Alumnæ Banquet a Much Enjoyed Occasion—Unique Toasts—Rev. Howard E. Rondthaler,s Sermon From the Text "And He Touched Her Hand."—A Worthy Ambition.

The Ninth Anual Commencement of the State Normal and Industrial College was formally ushered in Saturday night with the annual Alumnae Banquet given in honor of the class of 1901. The tables in the dining hall were beautifully decorated with flowers and vines, and at each plate was found a souvenir, in the shape of a program for the evening, tied with the College colors, gold and white. The College orchestra furnished music, and the occasion was a most enjoyable one. The program including the menu is reprinted:

"Haste thee, Nymph, and bring with thee
Jest and youthful jollity,
Quips and pranks and wanton wiles,
Nods and becks and wreathed smiles."

"Let good digestion wait on appetite and health on both,"

Vegetable Bouillon

Bread Olives Radish-s

"I hope we shall drink down all unkindness."

Roasted chicken Giblet Sau:e
Currant Jelly

Curry of Rice Creamed Cauliflower

"Our old faithful friend, we are glad to see you."

Green Peas

"How fresh and green you are."

Cucumber and Tomato Salad

Cheese Wafers

"I warrant there's vinegar and pepper in it."

Pineapple Ice Cake

"Then farewell heat and welcome frost."

Strawberries

"Doubtless God Could have made a better berry, but doubtless God never did."

Coffee Peppermints

"The daintiest last to make the end most sweet

"Discourse, the sweeter banquet of the mind."

Toastmaster—Margaret Peirce, '99—

"I drink to the general joy o' the whole table."

Our Alma Mater—Elinor Watson, '00

—"Should auld acquaintance be forgot
"And days of auld lang syne?"

The literary Societies—President Charles D. McIver—"Literary culture is mental horticulture,—it joins beauty to utility."

Being a schoolmarm—Flora Patterson, '99—Delightful task! to rear the tender thought and teach the young idea how to shoot."

The Ex-Schoolmarm—Mrs. E. McK. Goodwin, '93—"Marriage and hanging go by destiny."

Visions of the Future—Prof. J. Y Joyner—"I had a dream that was not all a dream."

"Gude nicht and joy be wi' you a'."

"Sleep that knits up the ravell'd sleave of care,
The death of each day's life, sore labour's bath,
Balm of hurt minds, great Nature's second course,
Chief nourisher in life's feast."

THE ANNUAL SERMON.

Notwithstanding the threatening appearance of the weather a large audience assembled to hear the annual sermon yesterday morning, by Rev. Howard E. Rondthaler, of Salem. The services were opened by the entire student body of the institution singing, "Invocation. "The opening prayer was made by Rev. L. W. Crawford, who afterwards read the lessons, one being the ninety-sixth Psalm, and the other a portion of first chapter of Paul's letter to the Phillippians.

The choir, under the direction of Prof. Clarence R. Brown, sang two anthems, "Gloria" from Mozart's 12th mass, and "As Pants the Heart for Cooling Streams," from Spohe's "Crucifixion." The solo part of the latter was rendered by Miss Jessie Brown, of Newton. The singing was by some of the best voices of the Normal and was much appreciated by those who heard it.

President Charles D. McIver introduced Rev. Mr. Rondthaler, who said:

"The simpler the picture of our Lord Jesus Christ, the more does it appeal to our hearts. As a study in grouping, and as a vivid display of the passions, Muncasky's "Christ Before Pilate" may rivet our attention, but how much closer to our hearts is the winsome appeal made by Raphael's Madonna, with its gentle tenderness and home like nearness? Hardly a simpler picture of the Master could be found than the one chosen in my text, Matthew 8: 15: "And he touched her hand."

"It was in the quiet of the Sababth morn, in the town of Capernaum, Jesus, with his Disciples, had attended the morning service in the synagogue, and upon its close He was informed of the sickness of one in a household in which He was well known. He hastened thither. I can imagine that fisherman Peter's house was nigh by the sparkling waters of that beautiful Gallilean lake. Within the humble confines of his home lay the sufferer. The Master enters. 'And He touched her hand, and she arose and ministered unto Him.' What a portrayal of the divine power and human sympathy of our Lord—divine in healing, human in touching. But He was ever doing thus, for 'He went about doing good.' It was this sympathetic nearness to people which distinguished Him and won them.

"There have been other great leaders; men who have essayed to lead their fellow men, to direct vast movements, to organize great undertakings, to lead multitudes, but none other has ever dared to undertake so great a work, that of 'drawing all men unto Him,' in so simple and seemingly slow, even unspeakable, manner as by touching the individual, one by one: It was His delight to come near enough to men to literally touch them. Men were units to the Master, not masses; individuals, not classes.

"He touched poverty—touched it in the truest way by making Himself poor. 'Though He was rich, yet for our own sakes became He poor.'

" 'Foxes had their holes, the birds their nests,
In the deserts of Gallilee:
Thy couch was the sod, Oh, Son of God,
In the deserts of Gallilee.'

"Men have but lately awakened to Christ's way of studying poverty—not by theorizing and speculating upon it, but by going down into it and sharing it. The college settlement is not a new idea; it is but a part of Christ's way of knowing poverty—by making ourselves poor.

"He touched labor—not by statistical computations, not at arm's length, not as a problem, but during 18 years of His life, by making wooden plows, framing ox-yokes in a Nazarean carpenter shop with tools no better than the crude implements of the present Gallilean carpenter. No wonder that laboring men became amongst His most devoted followers.

"He touched child-life—in His own experience, of course, and then notably when He sat with the little ones clustering about him. Mothers brought their children to him that He might lay His hands upon them and pray for them. But He did more—He took them up in his arms, laid His hands upon them and blessed them, It was no wonder that when others in Jerusalem received Him angrily in the morning of His entrance His boy friends cried in the temple, 'Hosana to the Son of David.'

"He touched sorrow—not as a spectator, but in His own lonely suffering.

"In to the woods my Master went,
Clean forespent, forespent:
Into the woods my Master came,
Forespent with love and shame.
But the olives, they are not blind to him.
The thorn tree had a mind to Him,
When into the woods He came.'

"He touched disease, Until His hand was laid upon them, the blind went stumbling along, the dumb were enchained in silence till their tongues were caressed by His hand, and it was His touch which unstopped the heavy ears.

"It could only be after watching two gentle German nurses as they passed from cot to cot in an Oriental lepers hospital, swathing and cleansing the sores of those pitiable patients that we could form any appreciative conception of what it meant for Christ to lay His hand upon the lepers. They were other things that He must needs touch. and so it was in the course of time that His own hand was touching a bloody cross tree, and that at sunset of that sad day He was laid gently down upon the cold stone floor of the new-made sepulchre.

"How shall we ever come to realize fully that He is an unchanged Christ with whom we have to do, that it is possible on a twentieth century Sabbath morning to experience the touch of that same hand quieting some distemper of our life and lifting us up into larger usefulness? He comes to us in new ways when we began to realize the possibiliites of touch which lie in real fellowship with the master; when we do not merely associate Him with the fields and hillsides, of Gallilee, but place Him amongst the surroundings of today's life. A Pissot has rendered a real service to mankind in painting that graphic series of scenes wherein Christ lives and moves amongst the surroundings of His earthly life. I cannot but think, however, that another has caught the more helpful idea of a present Christ in near fellowship with us in his portrayal of our Savior revealing Himself to two amazed disciples as they sit at a modern table in a workingman's house, themeselvs dressed in plain working clothes. There is no halo about the Savior's head, the marks of toil are seen plainly on all and the impression of today is completed by the glimpse obtained through a window of the grimy stack of a neighboring factory.

"It is the faith picture of our Savior, set in the background of our life, that makes Him a near and present one and that brings the real experience of His touch. And as we grow into the knowledge of this fact which His presence occasions.

"First, a wholesome restraint. It is related of Florence Nightingale that. when she even as much as entered the hospital wards in the Crimean war and word was passed that her gentle presence was near at hand, men ceased their complaints and quieted their imprecations by every reason of the restraining effect of her presence. But mingled with this wholesome restraint is that more potent restraint of which Paul speaks: 'For the love of Christ constraineth us.' You may have heard of the maiden whose beautiful character and gentle demeanor endeared her to all, and who constantly referred to those who inquired after the result of her life to a tiny locket ever suspened about her neck. One day it was opened, and there was found therein only these words: 'Whom, having not seen, I love.' But the touch of the master's hand goes father, for it is His desire that His way of dealing with us should be our way of dealing with others. 'I have given you an example.' In all this matter of dealing with mankind there often arise serious questions. Thus says one:

" 'What shall I do to be just?
What shall I do for the gain
Of the world—or its sadness?
Teach me, O Seers, that I trust.
Chart me the difficult main
Leading out of my sorrow and madness:
Preach me the purifying pain.'

" 'Shall I wrench from my finger the ring
To cast to the tramp at my door?
Shall I tear off each luminous thing
To drop in the palm of the poor?
What shall I do to be just?
Teach me, O ye in the light,
Whom the poor and the rich alike trust;
My heart is aflame to be right,'

"Another answers:

" 'What shall you do to be just?
How shall you work for the gain
Of the world in its sadness?
Seek not the seers, but distrust
Guides who with creeds would enchain
Seek yet rather the prophet whose gladness
Breaks up the kingdom of pain.'

" 'Yes take from your fingerthe ring,
But not for the tramp at the door;
Turn its gold into coin that will bring
Relief to the pain of the poor.
Care if this will be just;
Think best of him who was light,
Whom the poor and the rich alike trust
So that you know you are right.'

"It is for the King's Son and Daughters to adopt the King's methods. This is by far the harder way, and probably because it is the Christ-like way, is not the world's method. Our Savior's example can never be effectively followed by mere resolutions, enactments, petitions, memories, conventions, conferences, the study of problems and questions, nor through theses nor essays, nor even through anything that strives to work with men as masses and classes. It is alone through actual, personal touch that the human part of the salvation of this world is to be wrought out. Heart must kindle heart, shoulder must meet shoulder, hand must clasp hand, eye must search eye before one life can warm another into large usefulness. That education which actually makes us beneficial to mankind is that which renders us heart-hungry to be helpful in Christ's way to others.

And now, young ladies, whom will you touch? The conspicuously heroic fields are reserved for but the few. The first thing with which most of us come into contact is our home life. Few pictures at the World's Fair gained the interest which was attached to 'Breaking the Home Ties.' I have thought of a possible counterpart thereto: 'Re-Making the Home Ties, perhaps the return of youth or maiden, enriched with the instruction and experience of college life, to the old home. In the parents' faces I see a commingling of pride and hopeful expectations that this one, for whom, perhaps real sacrifice has been made, may show forth a life sweetened and cultured into larger sympathy and helpfulness, I see upon the younger faces of the household an expression, half timid, of an instinctive questioning whether the returned one will be loving and lovable as before

"It is just here in your home life that you can begin to succeed or begin to fail. Do not await the fancied coming of some supposedly heroic or romantic field of lifework, but begin at once to show what you are and what you've gained in a sympathetic life lived in the nearest surroundings which present themeselves. But remember that weherever you touch, to be of lasting value, it must have in it the power which comes only by personal acceptance of Christ as your Savior.

"There are those who move graciously through the world by reason of refinement, education and cultivation, and their touch tempers and refines, but in the end it is ever found lacking in those permanent elments of which Paul speaks when says 'Christ in us the hope of glory,' so that 'I live, yet not I, but Christ liveth in me.'

"I commend to you this as a worthy ambition. A life so touched with Christ that it becomes to others an image, beautiful and inspiring, of the Christ-life."

The dark ages must be the ages of elderly spinsters.

THIS, THAT AND THE OTHER.

The world's births amount to 36,792,000 ever year.

A nine-year-old child has been arrested in Philadelphia for shoplifting. She is the youngest prisoner ever held in the city jail.

The average number of children per family in European countries is lowest in France, with 3.03; Switzerland, 3.94; Austria and Belgium, 4.05; England, 4.08; Germany, 4.10; Holland, 4.22; Scotland, 4.46; Italy, 4.56; Spain, 4.65; Russia, 4.83; while Ireland is highest, with an average of 5.20 children in each family.

Cyclones or general storms may be 1,000 miles in a diameter. Hurricanes operate on a path averaging 600 to 800 miles wide. Tornadoes are much smaller. They may be only a mile wide at the top, and but a few feet at the bottom, but they are much more dangerous than either a cyclone or a hurricane.

Pawnbrokers take some curious pledges, but it is not often that they are offered one from another world. A London suburban pawnshop, however, exhibits in its window as an unredeemed pledge a magnificent aerolite, a mass of fused metal that fell as it were from Heaven to provide a poor man with his beer. A ticket bears the statement that it was brought from the Arctic regions by a sailor.

ROYALTY OF EUROPE.

The duke of Connaught is to-day, next to the queen, the most popular member of the royal family. His popularity among the soldiers is only equaled by that of Lord Roberts.

Queen Wilhelmina has spent much time of late painting from life. She uses as her models the guards on sentry at her own palace. They are easily sketched from the windows while at their posts.

The German emperor has expressed a desire to furnish three sea pieces, painted by himself, for the decoration of Queen Victoria's yacht, soon to be completed. The kaiser's own yacht is adorned by many of his own paintings.

Russia's czarina has organized an association of Russian women in reduced circumstances, who are almost constantly employed for embroidery for ecclesiastical purposes or for court dresses.

A correspondent of a London paper says that there is a particular spot in the palace at Laeken with a pedestal upon which are miniature busts of the prince and princess of Wales. It was there that the king of the Belgians introduced these royal personages to each otner, and his majesty considers that incident one of the pleasantest reminiscences of his long reign.

FACTS AND FIGURES.

For an army of 30,000 men and 10,000 horses for three months it is estimated that 11,000 tons of food and forage are necessary.

In Easton, Pa., Jasper Beeman, in default of fines aggregating $8.04, imposed for uttering 12 oaths, was sent to the county prison for 288 hours.

The Adirondack mountains embrace an area of over 2,800,000 acres, and in this great area fully 300 mountain peaks rise to altitudes ranging from 1,200 to 5,000 feet.

The largest carpet in the world is in Windsor castle. It is 40 feet in breadth and contains 58,840,000 stitches. The weaving of it occupied 28 men 14 months.

Chinese consulates pay, with two exceptions, $3,500 with fees. Shanghai is a $5,000 place while Chefoo pays only $2,500. Hong-Kong pays $5,000. The notarial fees are, as a rule, only a few hundred dollars.

Handles of forks and knives are utilized for the storage of salt and pepper under a new patent, each handle being formed of a tube, which has spring clips to hold it on the shank, with an internal reservoir for the salt or pepper, which is shaken through the ends.

HOW TO ADDRESS ROYALTY.

The formal title "your majesty" is used upon ceremonial occasions and paid servants are expected to use it at all times.

When (or if) the prince of Wales becomes king he will be addressed as "sire." This might be shortened to "sir" without offense.

If you should happen to meet Queen Victoria don't say to her "Your Majesty" or grope in the pockets of your mind for a long-winded phrase. Just say "ma'am." It's easier. Besides it happens to be correct. Everybody says it who knows what's what. Gladstone used to pronounce it "mum."

The emperor of Germany is a proud and haughty war lord, but his title is simply 'majestaet.' There is no pronoun even to his family, except when in privacy. The emperor of Austria is "eure majestaet" at all times. The king of Greece is "votre majeste"—French being the court language, and the king of Swenden is "ers majestat." At the Belgian and Italian courts the sovereign is greeted as "sire" or "madame."

Mercury AND Potash

Everybody knows that Mercury is a dangerous medicine even when administered in very small doses, and few constitutions can stand it for any length of time.

Potash produces inflammation of the stomach and bowels, and a dangerous form of dyspepsia and often chronic diarrhœa follow its use.

Now, the doctors will tell you if you have Contagious Blood Poison you must take these minerals for two years or longer; first, a course of Mercury, and when your teeth get so sensitive and sore that you can't eat, and the gums have a spongy, unnatural appearance, you are told to stop and a change to Potash is made. When the stomach rebels you are put on Mercury again, and so on ad infinitum, or until the system becomes so thoroughly saturated with these poisonous drugs that the most disgusting sores break out on the body, the bones become diseased, and the muscles and joints are racked with the most torturing pains. Mercury and Potash drive the eruptions and blotches from the skin, but the virus remains in the blood and the reappearance of the old symptoms and the occasional sore mouth show that the poison is still active, and you can never hope to completely eradicate it by this method of treatment.

When I was about twenty-one years of age, or eighteen years ago, I contracted Blood Poison in a bad form, and am satisfied that the rapid progress the disease was making would soon have made me a life-long invalid or ended my life. As my system came under the influence of S. S. S., the sores, splotches and pimples gradually disappeared and soon no evidence of the disease was left. I am now thirty-nine years old, and have seen no signs of it during the past eighteen years. S. S. S. does all you claim for it. WM. EMERSON, Pevely, Mo.

S. S. S. is the only antidote for this destructive virus, and an infallible remedy for this peculiar poison. It destroys and eradicates every particle of the poison, and makes the blood as healthy and pure as before the disease was contracted.

S. S. S. is the only purely vegetable blood purifier known, and we offer $1,000 for proof that it contains any mineral ingredient whatever. The general health improves as the Specific purges the system of impurities, and as new, rich blood begins to flow in the veins the unsightly sores and other evidences of blood poison disappear; strength returns and you are forever rid of this loathsome disease.

Our Home Treatment Book on Contagious Blood Poison tells you all about the symptoms, different stages, etc., of this disease. We will mail you a copy free.

If you need advice or special directions, write our physicians; it will cost you nothing and may hasten your cure. THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO, ATLANTA, GA.

NAME FOR KODOL.

The only instance on record when a postoffice has been named after a patent medicine, was last year, when in Wetzel county, W. Va., a new postoffice was established and named Kodol, after the famous Kodol Dyspepsia Cure, manufactured by E. C. DeWitt & Co., of Chicago. It had given such satisfactory results that the name was unanimously selected by the people for the new office and adopted by the department at Washington, D. C.

THE BEST REMEDY FOR RHEUMATISM. QUICK RELIEF FROM PAIN.

All who use Chamberlains's Pain Balm for rheumatism are delighted with the quick relief from pain which it affords. When speaking of this Mr. D. N. Sinks, of Troy, Ohio, says: "Some time ago I had a severe attack of rheumatism in my arm and shoulder. I tried numerous remedies but got no relief until I was recommended by Messrs. Geo. F. Parson & Co., druggists of this place, to try Chamberlain's Pain Balm. They recommend it so highly that I htought ,aeldihwititehoMrdtriz that I bought a bottle. I was soon relived of all pain. I have since recommended this liniment to many of my friends, who agree with me that it is the best remedy for muscular rheumatism in the market." or sale by C. E. Holton, Druggist.

ROBBED THE GRAVE.

A startling incident, of which Mr. John Oliver of Philadelphia, was the subject, is narrated by him as follows: "I was i a most dreadful condition. My skin was almost yellow, eyes sunken tongue coated, pain continually in back and sides, no appetite—gradually growing weaker day by day. Three physicians had given me up. Fortunately a friend advised me to trying Electric Bitters, and to my great joy and surprise, the first bottle made a decided improvement. I contiued their use for three weeks, and am now a well man. I know they saved my life, and robbed the grave of another victim." No one should fail to try them. Only 50 cts., guaranteed at C, E. Holton's drug store.

A TESTIMONIAL FROM OLD ENGLAND.

"I consider Chamberlain's Cough Remedy the best in the world for bronchitis," says Mrs. William Savory, of Warrington, England. "It has saved my wife's life, she having been a martyr to bronchitis for over six years being most of the time confined to her bed. She is now quite well." Sold by C. E. Holton, Druggist.

CAUGHT A DREADFUL COLD.

Marion Kooke, manager for T. M. Thompson, a large importer of fine millinery at 1658 Milwaukee Avenue, Chicago, says: "During the late severe weather I caught a dreadful cold which kept me awake at night and made me unfit to attend my work during the day. One of my milliners was taking Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for a severe cold at that time, which seemed to relieve her so quickly that I bought some for myself. It acted like magic and I began to improve at once. I am now entirely well and feel very pleas-

WINE OF CARDUI

A LITTLE DOES MUCH.

BOONE, IOWA, Dec. 14.

No tongue can tell what I have endured in the past ten years with my monthly sickness. While suffering untold agony, a friend called and recommended Wine of Cardui. I sent for a bottle, and Oh! what relief. After the first dose I began to feel better and have had no pain since.

MRS. GRACE LAMPHERE.

McELREE'S Wine of Cardui

Wine of Cardui not only cures but it acts AT ONCE. Here is a case of ten years' standing, and yet one single dose made the sufferer feel better, and stopped the pain. The Wine goes straight to the seat of the trouble. It acts directly upon the menstrual and genital organs. Its action is not violent, and it does not force a result. It simply gives Nature that little assistance that the sufferer's system lacks. A single disorder in the feminine organs spreads many disorders all over the body, and when the Wine cures the source, all the other ills vanish as a matter of course. A woman can be her own physician and cure herself at home. Local examinations are largely things of the past—the obnoxious custom is no longer necessary. Wine of Cardui is the only perfectly safe and sure vegetable Wine made to-day for the cure of "female troubles".

MONDAY, MAY 20.

Wouldn't the plan of the puller-of-chestnuts-out-of-the-fire to work mischief by impairing the loyalty of the revenue act work out?

Said a gentleman on the street this morning in speaking of the recent Kilgo harmony meeting held in this city, "the Kilgo men were to furnish the meeting and the anti-Kilgo people the harmony."

Mr. Schwab says that young men should start early and that college training is no good. We have observed that the man who disparages college training is invariably the man who never had its advantages.

Some days ago a good deal of fuss and feathers were raised over an alleged discovery that the revenue bill passed by the last legislature had not passed the body properly upon its several readings, and that the supreme court would declare it unconstitutional. Some how or other we haven't heard much of this lately.

The New York World reports this presumptious and ill-mannered conversation:

"If some of the old maids who profess it could only get married and raise a lot of children we would hear less of "Christian Science," said Prof. Weir, of the School of Pedagogy, to the Methodist preachers' meeting at No. 150 Fifth avenue yesterday.

Dignified divines had been assailing the doctrine taught by Mrs. Eddy as the most perilous heresy of modern times, and then came the professor.

"There are always a lot of ignorant persons—more especially women," he said, who hope to get a reputation for culture by taking up some fad. There is always agrain of truth in these fads, but Christian Science is intellectualism gone mad."

Mrs. Mary Baker Elizabeth Josephine Humbug Eddy's flapdoodle does not command the proper respect in the eyes of this professor, and this gentleman's reflections upon the ladies of uncertain age is outrageous, simply outrageous!

The Lancaster, South Carolina, Review gives its ideas of newspaper puffs and the appreciation which they receive thus:

We enjoyed a novel experience yesterday. We received a letter from a gntleman thanking us for a complimentary notice we recently gave him in these columns. Among other things he says: "The flattering article in your issue of April —— was singularly gratifying and keenly appreciated." In our newspaper experience, extending over a period of a number of years, we do not recall but one or two instances where we were formally "thanked" for words of praise bestowed. We have oftentimes said pleasant things about people whom we thought deserved them, and we have frequently wondered why we never received any recognition of their appreciation. Of course praise is not bestowed with the expectation of receiving thanks in return, but because it is considered due. It occurs to us, however, that if we were made the subject of a complimentary notice in a newspaper we would, like the gentleman referred to, take occasion to thank the editor for his kindly words. It may be thoughtlessness, or it may be extreme modesty, that causes people to receive "puffs" in silence, but it can not be indifference, for it is a notroious fact that it is characteristic of the human family to feel "tickled" over favorable newspaper mention. Show us the man who does not like to "see his name in the newspaper," and we'll show you a brass-mounted idiot.

A newspaper is more or less a public mentor, and as such it becomes its duty to sometimes bestow a word of praise, sometimes one of criticism, and it should be careful to bestow neither unworthily. Like the Review says, however, few people take the trouble to return a courteous word of appreciation to the paper, but are ready to cry the paper down the moment it says something they do not happen to like.

Be sure you see the real estate item in Southern Loan & Trust Company's ad today.

It is rather damp today to be talking about Lawn sprinklers but now is the time to buy and be ready for the hot days that are surely coming,and Odell's is the place to buy them.

Messrs. Thacker & Brockmann invite special attention to their department of carpets and mattings. It should be borne in mind that they carry an elegant line of these goods, and their prices are mighty interesting just now.

Of al the delicate gauzy conceits now made in stylish neckwear for ladies, nothing exceeds the designs on exhibition by Messers. J. M. Hendrix & Co. Prices range from 10 cents to $4 each. All drummer's samples and manufacturers prices, and no two alike.

HARRISON'S GOOSE CASE.

Tried Under an Apple Tree, and the Lawyer Hitched Up His Trousers.

Ex-President Harrison's death has recalled an interesting incident in the early history of Johnson county, Ind. The event, according to the Franklin Star, took place in White River township in August, 1858, and is interestingly related by James Collins, one of the principals.

Berrin Reynolds owned a large flock of geese, and near him resided Rev. J. R. Surface. The wandering disposition of geese is a well-known fact. The ganders of Mr. Reynolds' flock were wont to stray away over the fields and garden of Mr. Surface. This was very annoying to the minister. He patiently put up with the trouble for some little time, but finally patience ceased to be a virtue, and he decided to get rid of the troublesome geese. One day he drove them off into the woods, where they wandered away and were eaten by the wild animals that infested the timber in those early days.

The outcome was a suit filed before Squire Abraham Miller by Mr. Reynolds, claiming damages. Mr. Reynolds' attorney was the late Col. S. P. Oyler, and Rev. Mr. Surface was ably represented by the then young but rising attorney, the late Gen. Harrison. The trial took place under an apple tree that Mr. Collins says is still standing. The trial was by jury. Squire Miller, besides being justice of the peace, was a Lutheran preacher. Mr. Collins recalls the fact that during the trial all were coatless, that Gen. Harrison wore no suspenders, and during his argument before the jury would occasionally stop to pull up his trousers. The jury disagreed.

THIS GIRL DID NOT FAINT.

Her Heartless Young Brother Cured Her of Her Desire to Collapse.

There was an incident of Easter Sunday that was not down on the programme of one of the prominent churches of the city, but which caused considerable amusement to some and satisfaction to others of the worshipers, says the Chicago Chronicle. Among the attendants were a young man and his sister. The youth was aged perhaps 15 years and he was, therefore, at that unromantic period when faintness in one's womankind is regarded merely as a beastly bore and not as an occasion for sympathy. The young woman was perhaps three years his senior. The services were long and before they were half over the girl swayed as she stood listening to the Gospel, turned deadly pale and clutched at her brother's arm.

"I'm going to faint," she said.

"No, you're not, either," replied that youth in an energetic whisper. "Here, here, wake up; don't shut your eyes. What's the use of fainting? Stand steady; whoa! now, old girl," and all the time he was uttering these tender directions he was poking his companion in the ribs as only a lusty, healthy 15-year-old boy can poke.

The effect was magical. Half a dozen vinaigrettes and a host of palm-leaf fans could not have brought the young woman to herself as quickly. Given no encouragement to lose consciousness, she quickly pulled herself together and was able in a few minutes to leave the edifice.

ACTED JUST LIKE SOME MEN.

When This Monkey Got Drunk He Began to Throw Away His Money.

The unusual spectacle of an intoxicated monkey, gaudily dressed in red and gold, throwing nickels and pennies at a crowd of children almost resulted in a tragedy on Chestnut street the other morning, says the Louisville Courier-Journal.

The monkey was more intelligent than most of his race. He wasn't young, and his queer behavior could not be attributed to his inexperience. Of course, he was the property of an organ grinder. Up beyond First the "musician" stopped and ground out "I'd Leave My Happy Home for You," always a favorite with the neighborhood students.

At a second-story window the little beast saw a man standing. The stranger beckoned and the monkey quickly climbed to him. The window was opened, and the little climber disappeared within. Five minutes later he climbed down the lightning rod. After that the whole monkey family would have been scandalized could they have witnessed his actions. For a block he was unruly. Then he began to separate himself from the money which he had collected. Nickels flew in every direction.

But the animal kept on jabbering. It was not his fault that he was drunk. When he went to that second-story window the young man offered him whisky-soaked bread, and the animal ate heartily.

It doesn't take an acrobat to do a turn on the avudeville stage.

AT WEST MARKET CHUCH.

The Rain Kept Many Away, But the Entertainment Was a Good One.

Owing to the bad weather last night the attendance at West Market Street church was very small. Several of the children who were to take part in the exercises were absent, and the program was necesarily curtailed. Another entertainment of a similar character will be given some time later in the year. The little folks acquitted themselves creditably, and the service was an enjoyable one. The music was greatly assisted by Mr. F. O. Lawson, and Prof. C. J. Brockmann with violins, and Mr. M. S. Sherwood with a cornet.

DEATH OF A YOUNG MAN.

Dies in This City Last Night.—Remains Carried to Old Home Today.

Mr. J. D. Black, of Washington, died in this city last night of heart trouble with complications. He was passing through the city on his way to his old home in Ivanhoe, near Fayetteville, to visit friends and relatives, last Friday, and was taken sick that night, and gradually grew worse until the end came last night about ten o'clock. The remains were taken this afternoon to Ivanhoe for burial. Dr. J. S. Betts accompanied the remains.

Mr. Black was a young man, twenty-eight years of age, and was a most efficient employee of the Southern railway in the traffic department.

A Card.

By direction of Lodge No. 602, B. P. O. E., we take this method of explaining a misunderstanding which appears to have arisen and been considerably talked about in regard to a band accompanying the Elks to Charlotte today.

The Lodge appointed a committee to make arrangements for the Charlotte reunion, with full power to act. This committee was in communication with the Gate City band, but the lodge, not knowing this, adopted a motion to take the Proximity band. The committee, ignorant of this action, made arrangements with the Gate City band.

When all these facts were brought before the lodge the action of the committee was affirmed, as it had power to act and had engaged a band.

This communication is given to the public on acourt of various false rumors which come to our ears in regard to what has been done and the reason for doing so. We appreciate very much the kind offer of the Proximity band to accompany us and regret that this misunderstanding has arisen.

SHOWS BIG GROWTH.

The Development of Navigation on the Great Lakes.

Aggregate Tonnage on the Lakes at the Close of the Last Fiscal Year Was 1,565,587 Tons.

The prospect of an early opening of navigation on the great lakes and the preparations made by the treasury bureau of statistics to continue its work, inaugurated in 1900, of gathering statistics of that commerce, lends interest to a review of last year's business on the lakes compared by that bureau. The entire commercial development of the great lakes and of the territory contiguous thereto has been embraced within the century which has just closed, and the more interesting phases of it are presented by the record of the past ten years. Prior to that time the growth had been by leaps and bounds, interspersed with periods of depression, and during the five years following 1875, when rail competition first became active, there was a very appreciable falling off both in vessel tonnage and the volume of freight traffic.

Taking up first the accessions to the tonnage engaged in the carrying trade on the inland seas, it may be noted that never prior to 1890 had the lake tonnage reached an aggregate of 1,000,000 tons. In that year the aggregate tonnage was 1,063,064 tons, and from that time until the present day an almost steady increase has been noted. Never since 1889 has the total dropped below the 1,000,000 mark, and with the single exception of 1894 there has been no year wherein the tonnage sum has not shown an increase over the preceding 12 months. The minimum yearly increase during the decade was 14,059 tons and the maximum 86,035 tons, the latter having been recorded in 1897, while the year previous has a gain of 82,608 tons to its credit. The aggregate tonnage on the lakes at the close of the last fiscal year (June 30, 1900) was 1,565,587 tons, a gain of 502,524 tons, or 32 per cent. during the interim covered by the comparison.

It is of interest also to consider the relation of the lake fleet to the vessels of all kinds owned in the United States. In 1891, for instance, when the aggregate tonnage under the American flag was 4,684,759, the tonnage of the lake craft amounted to 1,154,870 tons, or over 24 per cent. The aggregate tonnage for the nation increased very gradually prior to 1900, and thus in 1896 and 1897, when heavy additions were made to the complement of fresh-water carriers, the shipping of the inland seas represented as high as 29 per cent. of the whole. According to the latest statistics compiled by the United States commissioner of navigation, the aggregate burden of American vessels is 5,164,839 tons, and the great lakes, with 1,565,587 tons, thus embraces 30 per cent. Finally it may be noted, for purposes of comparison, that the tonnage of vessels now owned on the Atlantic and gulf coasts of the United States is 2,727,802 tons, and thus exceeds by 75 per cent. the tonnage on the great lakes.

MAY USE WIRELESS SYSTEM.

Navy Department Begins the Study of the Marconi Idea and Others.

The navy department for some time has been giving careful attention to the subject of wireless telegraphy with a view of ascertaining how far it may be practically applied to the naval service. The subject has now advanced to the point where Secretary Long has appointed a special board of officers to make a thorough inquiry on the subject. The board consists of Capt. Chadwick, Lieut. Powellson and Lieutenant Commander Hodgson.

The meetings of these officers will take place at Newport and it is expected that their conclusions will determine to what extent the wireless system can be utilized for the navy. It is the purpose of Secretary Long to have the entire subject gone into with a view to developing not only the practical utility of the Marconi system, but of all others which may be available for naval uses.

NOTED CANINE PET DIES.

Mrs. George W. Primrose's "Baby," a Black and Tan Dog, Laid in $200 Coffin.

Nestled in a bed of flowers, which had been arranged within a tiny white satin casket, in Mount Vernon, N. Y., lies the dead body of Baby, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Primrose's pet black and tan dog, which died suddenly the other morning. The death of this animal has caused mourning in the famous minstrel man's household. The beautiful, tiny casket, which is said to have cost $200, is lying in the front hall bedroom and the neighbors were calling all day to pay their last respects to Baby, who had a wide acquaintance on "The Hill" and in all parts of the country. Mr. and Mrs. Primrose had raised it from a pup. For nine years the dog traveled with the actor's family all over America. Mrs. Primrose told a reporter she always put the dog in a traveling bag while on trains. He never barked or made any noise.

PREVENTED A TRAGEDY.

Timely information given Mrs. Geo. Long, of New Stratisville, Ohio, prevented a dreadful tragedy and saved two lives. A frightful cough had long kept her awake every night. She had tried many remedies and doctors but steadily grew worse until urged to try Dr. King's New Discovery. One bottle wholly cured her, and she writes this marvelous medicine also cured Mr. Long of a severe attack of pneumonia. Such cures are positive proof of the matchless merit of this grand remedy for curing all throat, chest and lung troubles. Only 50c and $1. Every bottle guaranteed. Trial bottles free at C. E. Holton's drug store.

STORY OF A SLAVE.

To be bound hand and foot for years by the chains of disease is the worst form of slavery. George D. Wiliams, of Manchester, Mich., tells how such a salve was made free. He says: "My wife has been so helpless for five years that she could not turn over in the bed alone. After using two bottles of Electric Bitters, she is wonderfully improved and able to do her own work." This supreme remedy for female diseases quickly cures nervousness, sleeplessness, melancholy, headache, backache, fainting and dizzy spells. This miracle working medicine is a godsend to weak, sickly, run down people. Every bottle guaranteed. Only 50c. Sold by C. E. Holton's drug store.

For Ulcers, wounds burns, boils, pains or piles it's the best salve in the world Cure guaranteed. Only 25c. Sold by C. E. Holton, druggist.

Judgment.

Whose bad opinion do you fear?

Whose good opinion do you want?

The most important thing to you in your business is customers.

The strongest adjunct in making customers is the way you impress them. A large part of the impressing is done in the kind of printing they get from you. The only printing that you have may be your stationery, envelopes, cards and other pieces of what are called commercial printing.

Even in these things it is possible to exercise good taste, as we can soon show you if you will examine some of our samples of printing.

If you advertise, if only to the extent of a small folder or an occasional booklet, you should anticipate and discount the judgment of your customers by laying before them printing that is refreshing, distinct. original, clean and direct.

There are all kinds of printing in every town.

There is only one good kind.

One piece of good printing is worth a hundred pieces that are fair to middling.

You cannot afford to do anything but the best. Therefore, yod cannot afford not to know our ways and our prices.

Will you come to us, or shall we go to you?

FOR A CHILD

who is "not doing well"—the condition occurs now and then with all children.

Scott's emulsion of cod-liver oil is a food that begins to build you up at once—of course, it don't show at once.

"Not doing well" means that the child is not getting the good of his food. Not today, or this week; it may have been going on for a month; before it begins to show in the child's condition.

You want him to get back to turning his usual food into strength.

You want the food that begins to build, up at once.

We'll send you a little to try, if you like.

GOSSIP OF GOTHAM.

A strong effort is being made by postal officials in New York city to do away with rented boxes. At first the rental was four dollars per year; now it is $16, and as a consequence the number of such boxes has decreased from 4,000 to 2,100.

Next November the electors of Greater New York will be called on to fill 188 offices, and the mayor then chosen can, by removals and appointments, fill as he pleases during the first six months of his administration 102 important places.

The publication of the City Record of New York this year costs $190,000. The appropriation for corporation advertising in the borough of Brooklyn is $100,000, Brooklyn not being included in the operations of the record, the revenue from which is $5,000 from sales.

"Catch a thief and you'll get a day off," is Capt. Chapman's offer to his squad of night police in New York city. The captain thinks that a man who makes a good arrest is entitled to lay off a day because he has to take his prisoner to court in the morning and thus loses a good deal of sleep.

Bulldogs and terriers have doubled in price since the Madison Square show ended. Like any other society fad the fashion in dogs varies, and as society has decreed this year that bull pups and terriers are in style, therefore those breeds are the only ones to be considered by any member of the 400 or those who would like to be.

THINGS TO REMEMBER.

The colder eggs are the quicker they will froth.

Ammonia painted over woodwork will darken it.

Lemons will keep a long time if covered with cold water.

All spices should be kept in tins, and salt should be kept in a dry place.

Soap and chalk mixed and rubbed on mildewed spots will remove them.

Always well heat a gridiron before broiling meat, fish, bread or anything else.

Whole cloves will more effectually exterminate moths than camphor, tobacco or cedar shavings.

A lump of soda laid upon the drain pipe down which waste water passes will prevent the clogging of the pipe with grease.

Chloride of lime is an infallible preventive of rats. It should be put down their holes and spread about wherever they are likely to appear.

Commemorative Tablet at West Point

The Empire State Society of the Daughters of 1812 has received permission from Secretary Root and Col. Mills to place a tablet commemorative of the heroes of 1812 in the chapel of West Point. The tablet will be of black marble, with gilt lettering, and will be the second placed in the chapel by a patriotic society.
